Exceptional colour label printing & productivity

Kemtek distributes Epson ColorWorks colour label printers designed to deliver exceptional print quality, outstanding reliability, and high-performance productivity for on-demand label production. Ideal for product labelling, food and beverage, healthcare, retail, logistics, and manufacturing applications, the Epson ColorWorks range provides businesses with the flexibility to print vibrant, full-colour labels exactly when needed, eliminating the need for pre-printed label stock and reducing waste.

Built to support both short-run and high-volume production environments, Epson ColorWorks printers combine PrecisionCore® printhead technology, seamless software integration, and advanced media handling to maximise efficiency and minimise downtime. Whether producing compliance labels, barcode labels, packaging labels, or customised product branding, Epson ColorWorks solutions help businesses streamline operations, improve inventory management, and deliver professional-quality results with speed and consistency.

The ColorWorks range integrates effortlessly into existing workflows, supporting leading label design software and enabling database-driven printing for complete customisation on every label. Advanced colour management technology ensures brand consistency across every print run, while intelligent maintenance features and durable pigment inks keep printers running at peak performance with minimal operator intervention.

With a scalable lineup ranging from compact desktop models to high-volume batch production printers, Epson ColorWorks offers a solution for businesses of every size. Whether you need to print a handful of bespoke labels or thousands of units per shift, the ColorWorks range delivers the performance, versatility, and total cost of ownership that make it the trusted choice for on-demand colour label printing across multiple industries.

ColorWorks Series

Print labels on demand with speed and precision

With Epson's advanced colour label printing technology, the ColorWorks Series delivers exceptional print quality and productivity at a low operating cost. You get vibrant colour output, sharp text, and accurate barcodes with reliable media handling and PrecisionCore® printheads. Designed for demanding production environments, the ColorWorks range enables businesses to print labels exactly when needed, reducing inventory requirements and improving workflow efficiency.

Automated maintenance features and durable pigment inks help minimise downtime while ensuring consistent, professional-quality results. Setup is quick and easy, and the printers can automatically optimise performance for different media types, allowing businesses to focus on production and growth rather than printer management.

Integrated into existing production and packaging workflows, Epson ColorWorks printers offer flexible connectivity and automated, database-driven label printing. They support leading design software, deliver consistent colour accuracy across all runs, and integrate seamlessly with enterprise systems for efficient and scalable operations.
